The New York Mail, speaking of the Mozart Symphony club, which appears at the Barre opera house December 13: A descriptive piece entitled "In the Gypsy Camp" was very true to life, and thoroughly enjoyed by a critical audience; it was the feature of the program. Mr. Stoelzer, from behind a screen, played nine different instruments, including saxophone and the historic Archi Lute. The program was an excellent arrangement, especially the number "In the Clock Store," and the different instruments, and combinations of instruments, gave a variety to the music that was most pleasing. We hope that we shall have the pleasure of hearing the Mozart Symphony Club of New York again.
